Bon appetit.

We're all hankering for a little taste of travel right now. Whether it's the turquoise waters of the Mediterranean or the rolling green hills of Provence that call to your inner globetrotter, there are plenty of ways to satisfy your need to roam at home.

The beautiful Barossa Valley — one of Australia's most respected wine regions — is located just over an hour's drive northeast of Adelaide and it offers a little taste of France, right here at home.

From tranquil green vineyards as far as the eye can see, to luxury boutique accommodation that's reminiscent of the most beautiful French chateaus, the region has something for every palate.

For those plotting a Barossa escape "someday", this deal may just inspire you to get those booking fingers moving and give you something concrete to look forward to.

Le Mas is one of the region's newest additions. It offers exquisite French-inspired luxury accommodation, picturesque vistas and authentic Provençal cuisine, along with little touches of luxury we all adore, like Hermès toiletries, bespoke built mirrors, rain showers and bathtubs designed for hour-long soaks.

Nestled between the Para River and vineyards on the valley floor, the property is equally perfect for a weekend away or special occasion like, oh, next Tuesday.
